Shazam!

Zachary Levi, Mark Strong, Asher Angel
Warner Bros.
Directed by David F. Sandberg
Rated PG-13; 130 minutes

We all have a superhero inside us, it just takes a bit of magic to bring it out. In Billy Batson's case, by shouting out one word—SHAZAM!—this streetwise 14-year-old foster kid can turn into the adult Super Hero Shazam, courtesy of an ancient wizard. Still a kid at heart—inside a ripped, godlike body—Shazam revels in this adult version of himself by doing what any teen would do with superpowers: have fun with them! Can he fly? Does he have X-ray vision? Can he shoot lightning out of his hands? Can he skip his social studies test? Shazam sets out to test the limits of his abilities with the joyful recklessness of a child. But he'll need to master these powers quickly in order to fight the deadly forces of evil controlled by Dr. Thaddeus Sivana.

GAME OF THRONES – THE FINAL SEASON

HBO Original Series
Directed by David Nutter
2019/TV-MA/54 minutes
Available Now

The most-watched series in HBO history and a worldwide TV phenomenon, Game of Thrones has been a transcendent hit for the network since its premiere in 2011. Now, eight years later, Game of Thrones concludes its remarkable run on HBO with an eighth and final season. In Season 7, the final image viewers were left with was of the Army of the Dead inexorably marching the one barrier it had never been able to breach – the Wall – after the undead dragon Viserion, with the Night King astride its back, obliterated Eastwatch with a torrent of cold fire. Now, a denouement eight seasons in the making will be reached, answering a myriad of questions surrounding the fate of the series' protagonists. Will the revelation that Jon Snow is in fact a Targaryen, and the legitimate heir to the Iron Throne, undermine his relationship with Daenerys? How will Sansa, Arya and Bran – not to mention numerous northern Houses allied with the Starks – react to the appearance of traditional foes at the gates of Winterfell? Will Cersei's devious strategy of fortifying her defense of King's Landing through mercenaries from Braavos yield dividends? And above all: can the Army of the Dead, with a newly minted ice dragon and a huge advantage in sheer fighting numbers, be defeated by any living army? The answers will come in a flurry as the endgame of Game of Thrones is played out in its final season, exclusively on HBO.

WHAT'S MY NAME - MUHAMMAD ALI

HBO Sports Documentary
Directed by Antoine Fuqua,
2019/TV-14/ 83 mins. (Part 1); 79 mins. (Part 2)
Available Now

This two-part HBO Sports documentary event examines the life and times of Muhammad Ali, a transcendent figure in American history and perhaps the most recognized person in the world over the past 50 years. Exploring Ali's challenges, confrontations, comebacks and triumphs through recordings of his own voice, What's My Name | Muhammad Ali paints an intimate portrait of a man who was a beacon of hope for oppressed people around the world and, in his later years, was recognized as a global citizen and a symbol of humanity and understanding. Directed and executive produced by acclaimed feature-film director Antoine Fuqua (Training Day), What's My Name | Muhammad Ali is the first feature-length HBO production from SpringHill Entertainment, with LeBron James and Maverick Carter (both from HBO's The Shop) also serving as executive producers. Other EPs include Bill Gerber (the recent Oscar®-winning hit A Star Is Born) and Glen Zipper (Dogs, HBO's Elvis Presley: The Searcher).

NATIVE SON

HBO Films
Directed by Rashid Johnson
2019/TVMA/108 minutes
Available Now

Updating the 1940 classic novel by Richard Wright into a contemporary setting, Native Son tells the story of Bigger Thomas (Ashton Sanders) a young African-American from Chicago who is hired as a chauffeur by a wealthy white businessman, Will Dalton (Bill Camp). As Bigger enters this seductive new world of money and power - including a precarious relationship with Dalton's daughter, Mary (Margaret Qualley) - he faces unforeseen choices and perilous circumstances that will alter the course of his life. Directed by renowned contemporary artist Rashid Johnson, with a screenplay written by Pulitzer-prize winning playwright Suzan-Lori Parks, Native Son shrewdly and provacatively modernizes this classic story for our current age, inflecting Native Son with an up-to-the-minute timeliness while drawing fascinating parallels to today's social and political landscape.

DEADWOOD: THE MOVIE

HBO Films
Directed by Daniel Minahan
2019/TVMA/110 minutes
Available Now

Continuing the story begun in David Milch's groundbreaking, Emmy® Award-winning HBO series, the feature-length movie Deadwood will finally premiere on HBO in May, nearly 13 years after the series' acclaimed three-season arc ended. Once again written by David Milch (also an executive producer), the film is directed by Daniel Minahan (who directed several episodes in 2004 and 2006) and features key original cast members from the series. In the Deadwood film, friends and foes are reunited after ten years to celebrate South Dakota's statehood. Former rivalries are reignited, alliances are tested and old wounds are reopened, as all are left to navigate the inevitable changes that modernity and time have wrought on Deadwood and on their lives. Reprising their iconic roles from the series are Ian McShane as Al Swearengen, Timothy Olyphant as Seth Bullock, Molly Parker as Alma Ellsworth, Paula Malcomson as Trixie, John Hawkes as Sol Star, Anna Gunn as Martha Bullock, Dayton Callie as Charlie Utter, Brad Dourif as Doc Cochran, Robin Weigert as "Calamity" Jane Canary, William Sanderson as E.B. Farnum, Kim Dickens as Joanie Stubbs, and Gerald McRaney as George Hearst.

Two talented chefs go head-to-head for the chance to "Beat Bobby Flay." To get to Bobby the chefs must first face off against each other, creating a spectacular dish with a secret ingredient of Bobby's choice. The winning chef gets to challenge Bobby with his or her surprise signature dish. If Bobby goes down, the winner can tell the world, "I beat Bobby Flay!"

Chopped

"Chopped" is a cooking competition show that is all about skill, speed and ingenuity. Four chefs compete before a panel of expert judges and turn baskets of mystery ingredients into an extraordinary three-course meal. Course by course, the chefs will be "chopped" from the competition until only one winner remains.

Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives

Host Guy Fieri takes a cross-country road trip to visit some of America's classic "greasy spoon" restaurants — diners, drive-ins and dives — that have been doing it right for decades. These days they're booming again — being run by a whole new generation of owners, and catering delicious home-made food both to baby boomers and a slew of younger fans as well.

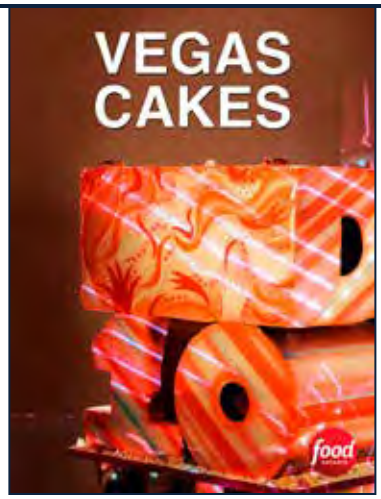

Ridiculous Cakes

Cake designers and artists of all kinds come together to create the most amazing and ridiculous cakes that defy expectations and go above and beyond in their goodness. Such cakes can include a giant planet Earth that weighs more than a motorcycle, an edible, wearable hat cake, a Bollywood-themed chandelier, a music-playing tribute to the 1950s, a cake for the cast and crew of "Modern Family" to celebrate their 200th episode, and many more.

Guy's Grocery Games

Guy Fieri sends four talented chefs running through the aisles in a high-stakes, high-skills, grocery store cooking competition. The chefs are hit by real-world challenges like finding workarounds when all the essential ingredients are suddenly "out-of-stock" or having to create a masterpiece when you can only cook with "5 items or less" or on a $10 budget. In the end, the food does the talking, as the last chef standing has the chance to make some serious dough!

Vegas Cakes

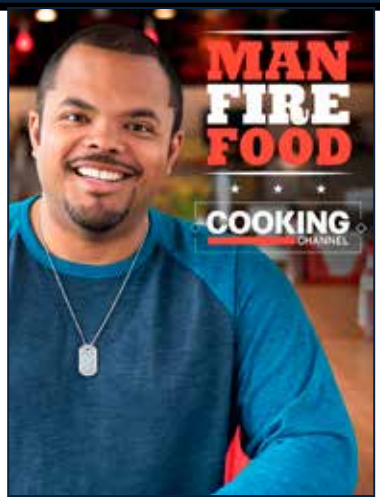

Freed's Bakery began with Milton and Esther Freed in 1959. Today, the bakery is third-generation owned, and is beloved by locals and tourists alike. The artists of Freed's Bakery create the most outrageous, intricate and entertaining cakes in town. Some of the masterpieces include a giant Cadillac cake for the Viva Las Vegas rockabilly weekend, a cake celebrating a new school made out of books, chalkboards and lockers, and a stunt man's birthday cake illustrating a legendary record jump.

Unique Sweets

"Unique Sweets" brings viewers inside eateries across America that specialize in creating some of the most unique desserts around. One-of-a-kind pastries, cakes and cookies are among the treats produced at businesses that include restaurants, candy shops, chocolate boutiques, and bakeries. The sweet treats range from gooey desserts like an ice cream sundae with two different sauces to more fruity creations like tarts. Other concoctions include pies with surprising fillings, layer cakes, and even a chocolate cake that's considered the best in the world.

Man Fire Food

Roger Mooking has a fascination with fire. The chef enjoys finding inventive ways to cook with fire, which is exactly what he does in this series that takes him on a journey across the U.S. He visits pit-masters, chefs and home cooks who use fire to create complex, flavorful dishes. The people Mooking visits don't simply turn on a stove and start cooking; their methods include cooking over an open fire in a rustic chuck wagon and smoking meats in a former airplane that a mechanic has transformed into a smoker.

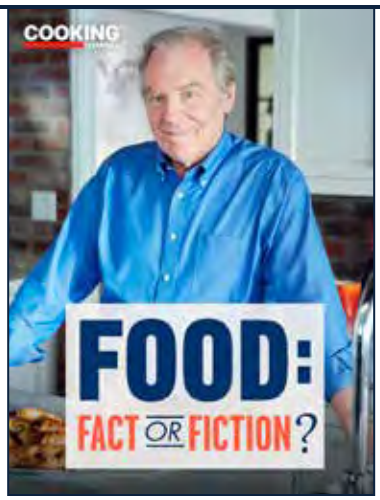

Southern and Hungry

Food expert Damaris Phillips and auto racing analyst Rutledge Wood are both Southerners who share a passion for the food and people in the South. In this series, they head out on a road trip throughout the region to visit some of their favorite down-home food spots. The friends explore the memorable dishes and eateries that transport them back to their childhoods. Their travels take Phillips and Wood to Charleston, S.C., Oxford, Miss., and Phillips' hometown of Louisville, where they sample Southern staples fused with Asian flavors.

The Best Thing I Ever Ate

What do the celebrity chefs and hosts of Food Network programs like to eat when they're on their own time and their own dime? They tell you in each episode of this show, which focuses on a different type of food. The celebrities talk about pizza, for example, and tell you where in the country you can find their personal favorites. They also dish on great desserts, their favorite barbecue joints, and where to get the best comfort foods.

Food: Fact or Fiction?

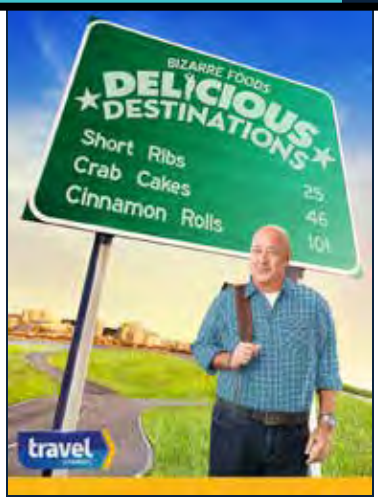

Was pizza really invented in Italy? Does chicken soup actually help cure the common cold? Those are some of the food myths that are explored on this series that tries to separate fact from fiction. Actor Michael McKean examines commonly held beliefs about food — including popular food remedies and romantic recipes and aphrodisiacs — to see which ones have some validity and which can be completely debunked. Themed episodes include one that takes a look at breakfast — is it really the most important meal of the day? — and another that travels around the food globe to see where popular international dishes were really created.

Beach Bites with Katie Lee

Chef and cookbook author Katie Lee heads out in search of some of the best beach foods she can find. In the seaside locations she visits, Lee meets chefs who prepare beach delicacies, often with a local flair, before tasting some of their dishes. In addition to trying meals made with freshly caught seafood and local twists on grilled favorites, Lee finds time for cocktails and desserts. Fritters with a homemade key-lime sauce are on the menu in Key West, Fla., while she experiences chili relleno and a pineapple raicilla cocktail in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico.

Bizarre Foods: Delicious Destinations

Chef Andrew Zimmern explores the delectable and iconic foods that define a location. Traveling the globe has never been more mouthwatering, and culinary classics have never been more comforting as he discovers the secrets and stories behind these legendary meals.

Caribbean Pirate Treasure

Philippe Cousteau follows in the footsteps of his grandfather, famed deep-sea explorer Jacques Cousteau, as he sets sail on the Caribbean to investigate tales of lost treasure. Joined by his wife, Ashlan, a journalist and passionate environmentalist in her own right, Philippe explores the crystal blue waters of Antigua, Belize and the Dominican Republic, among other destinations, which hold countless stories of shipwrecks, pirates and valuable booty. Each episode involves the couple diving into a different seafaring mystery, meeting with locals and treasure-hunting professionals, and tracking clues while searching for the truth about some of history's most enduring legends.

Food Paradise

There is, of course, much more to a vacation experience than hotels, sightseeing and souvenirs. For a look at what is literally on the menu, Travel Channel takes a tour of the must-see eateries across the country where a one-of-a-kind dining experience can be had. There are places that serve lip-smacking pizza, tasty deli entrees, boatloads of bacon, fresh seafood, finger-licking deep-fried dishes, juicy steaks, hot-and-spicy favorites — the list that can whet anyone's appetite goes on and on. Each episode focuses on a specific type of food, and there's even episodic room reserved for desserts, such as ice cream and pie.

Top Secret Swimming Holes

You've never seen swimming holes like these! "Top Secret Swimming Holes" is on a mission to uncover the world's most secluded, sexy and extreme natural places to cool off. We'll hike, climb, boat and even dog-sled our way around the globe to track down the perfect pools.

Expedition Unknown

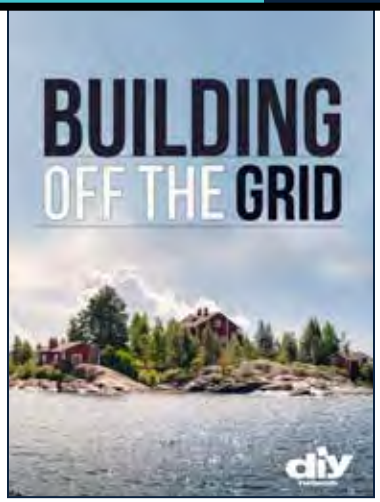

Josh Gates is on a mission to find the truth behind the world's most iconic unsolved legends. Leaving no stone unturned, his adventures take him around the globe as he immerses himself in the core locales linked to each tale. From excavating ruins and jumping out of planes Josh is going on some of his biggest adventures yet.

Man v. Food

In one of the most popular series in Travel Channel's history, actor Casey Webb — assuming the mantle from original host Adam Richman — travels across America to sample some iconic regional dishes and take on some daunting food challenges, such as attacking a pitcher-sized Bloody Mary garnished with a whole fried chicken, tucking into a four-and-a-half-pound Reuben sandwich, and a choice between taking on a 151-ounce milkshake, an eight-pound sloppy-joe or eating six habanero ghost chili wings. Talk about the big, the bad or the burn!

Building Off the Grid

Adventurers and their teams battle Mother Nature to build unique homes in remote areas. From Montana to the North Pole, from yurts to log cabins to Earthships, will they build in time to beat their deadlines?

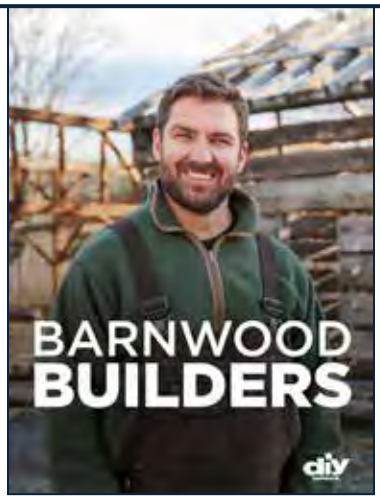

Pool Kings

Want a paradise that's fit for a king and located just beyond your back door? That's the dream of the well-to-do clients featured on this HGTV/DIY series, and it's up to the "pool kings" to make it a reality. Each half-hour episode showcases the creation of dramatic in-ground pools with over-the-top features such as cascading 15-foot waterfalls, luxurious grottoes, natural boulder spillways, outdoor kitchens, and mini water parks.

Stone House Revival

During his TV career, multitalented contractor Jeff Devlin has modernized bathrooms and updated cooking spaces, to name just two of many hosting duties. His latest project for DIY Network takes Devlin back — in time and to his home state — to work on historic houses in and around Buck's County, Pa. Alongside a team of restoration experts, Jeff works with homeowners to revive dilapidated structures to create modern living spaces creating modern living spaces while preserving historical integrity.

Barnwood Builders

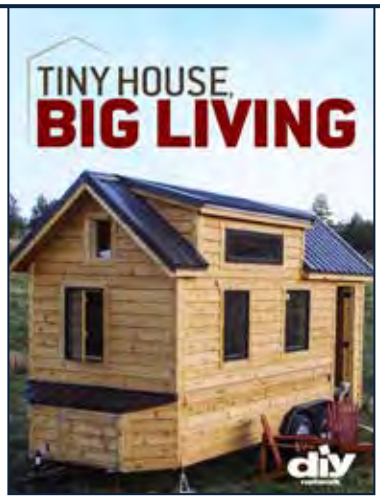

A staple of the rural landscape, barns have served U.S. society for more than 200 years. Many of the old structures have fallen into disrepair because of time and weather. In this series, Mark Bowe and his crew of West Virginia-based craftsmen salvage antique barns and cabins before the timber can deteriorate. Their goal is to put new life into worn-out structures. Among its projects, the crew tackles disassembling an antebellum log cabin in West Virginia, refurbishing it and rebuilding it for a collector in Tennessee.

First Time Flippers

Looking to perhaps supplement existing income or begin a new full-time career, virgin house flippers quickly learn the tricks of the trade when it comes to getting big bucks for smart renovations. They attack kitchens, living rooms, bathrooms and basements, not to mention front yards and backyards, in an effort to cosmetically address a number of issues and improve a home's curb appeal and overall value. In the unpredictable world of home buying, renovating and selling, every project is a risk. Will these flippers make a profit? Or break the bank?

Tiny House, Big Living

There's a trend in U.S. housing, albeit a very small one. Drawn to the prospect of financial freedom, a simpler lifestyle, and limiting one's environmental footprint, more buyers are opting to downsize — in many cases, to spaces no larger than 500 square feet. "Tiny House, Big Living" celebrates this movement, spotlighting the small-dwelling dreams-turned-reality for couples, families and singles across the country. They either take on the builds themselves or hire contractors who cater to unique personalities by creating custom furniture and layouts. Either way, viewers follow the adventures through the construction process until the mini-homes are complete.

Island Life

Most people only fantasize about living on an island, but we'll prove that an Island Life is possible for anyone. Tropical dreamers will be shown island properties that fit into any budget, from ultra-affordable to totally outrageous. We'll follow everyday families is search of their own slice of paradise, and prove that fantasy can be reality.

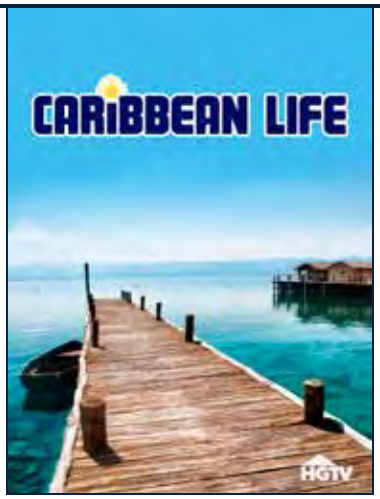

House Hunters International

Follow home seekers around the world as they navigate the sometimes rough waters of buying real estate in other countries. From Roman columns to Spanish arches, they'll check out all kinds of architectural styles and cut through the red tape to find their new international home.

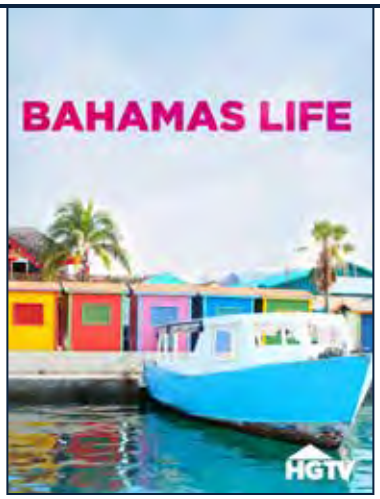

Beachfront Bargain Hunt

Purchasing a beachfront property doesn't always mean buyers have to break the bank. This series documents the journeys of families who are dreaming of living in a sandy locale with palm trees and warm ocean breezes, but those dreams are accompanied by a firm budget. And by budget we mean substantially short of a million dollars. The house hunters tour three to four waterfront properties — each with surprisingly affordable price tags — before choosing the one that turns the beach lifestyle dreams into reality.

Caribbean Life

"Caribbean Life" follows families as they pack up and head to the Caribbean. In each episode, a couple search for an affordable slice of heaven as they tour homes on white, sandy beaches. The real estate advisers chosen to help must find locations for growing families, couples just starting out, and families looking for a fresh start, while sticking to their respective budgets. Leaving their lives in the states behind, these couples and families hope to start over in paradise, but for a price each can afford.

Bahamas Life

Who wouldn't want to live in the Bahamas? People featured in this series are part of an endless stream of home buyers looking to escape the stresses of life and focus on quality time by making their island living dreams come true. Episodes follow real estate agents as they take clients on tours of properties ranging from a waterfront condo in Freeport, Grand Bahama, and a low-maintenance home with a view in Great Exuma to a relaxing retreat in idyllic Treasure Cay.

Fixer Upper

Chip and Joanna Gaines help homebuyers in Waco, Texas, look past the superficial and buy the worst house in the best neighborhood. With his expertise in construction and her keen design sense, Chip and Jo transform potential-rich houses into their clients' dream homes.

The Cook and the Chef

Both Maggie and Simon believe there is nothing more important than to source the best possible ingredients to use when cooking. And the best way to do this is to use produce which is in season at the time of the cooking.

Handa Opera on Sydney Harbour

One of the world's best romantic operas, "La Traviata," is performed under the stars on a floating, mirrored stage on Sydney Harbour. An audience favourite for its emotional, high-stakes narrative (from Alexandre Dumas' The Lady of the Camellias), "La Traviata" navigates between excitement, beautiful melodies and mournful moments. With a colossal, glittering Swarovski chandelier illuminating the stage and fireworks lighting up the night sky, this is an opera without equal. Performed in Italian.

The Australian Ballet

The Australian Ballet's Artistic Director David McAllister has created a sumptuous new production of this timeless classic, with lavish sets and costumes by award-winning designer Gabriela Tylesova. Set to Tchaikovsky's sublime score, this enchanting production casts a spell of delight all the way to true love's kiss.
